TEACHING METHODOLOGY

It is belived that learners retain information by:-

- 10% of what they read.
- 20% of what they hear.
- 30% of what they see.
- 50% of what they see and hear.
- 70% of what they say and write.
- 90% of what they say and perform at a task.

We believe in giving 90% improvement so we involve them in speaking in real life situations. As a matter of fact, there are some misconceptions regarding learning language. Unfortunately the beginners think that method of learning spoken English and written English is quite different. But the formation of sentence requires the same grammatical orders in both spoken English and written English. The statement, which is grammatically correct in, written, will be the same in spoken form. The difference lies in practice. That is why we try to be very conscious in the matter of practice not in studying grammatical elements. We have developed some idea of learning English language easily and effectively. Usually two-hour classes are given everyday, where in first hour stands for Grammar session and the next hour for Discussion session.

GRAMMAR SESSION

This session gives students the power of comprehension of English language by providing an appropriate way of sentence formation. The students study the way when, where and how to form sentences based on different structures. It bestows to them the capacity of using the words in a proper way to make sentences, which are the prior factor of speaking, as they already know so many words. This session gives them an ability of adjustment of words in a meaningful way by simple, pragmatic, understandable and exciting examples based on different structure.

DISCUSSION SESSION

Today the most critical skill for success is an excellent communication and presentation ability. The expansion of the merit of the students ultimately lies in fluent speaking. The students develop these skills in the discussion session. On the one hand this session develops oral communication and on the other hand the strength of creativity of thought among the students by providing them an opportunity to apply their mind by making speeches, debates, seminars, dyadic talks, discussions, conversations, mock interviews.
